

SNYDER RETIRES FROM THE FORCE

Veteran Member's Resignation Accepted by Police Board Effective January 1.—Retired on Half Pay—Police Board Adopts Budget.

The police board Friday evening accepted the resignation of Police Officer Snyder, effective January 1, and later the trustees of the police pension fund met and granted Officer Snyder a pension of half pay to be paid monthly during his lifetime. Officer Snyder has been a member of the force nearly twenty-nine years, and is the oldest man, in point of years of service, on the force. During the many years he has served the city as a member of the police department he has proven a most efficient officer.

The police board also adopted its budget amounting to $57,203.14, which is slightly larger than last year. The increase is due entirely to the demands of traffic, the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge and the establishment of other traffic posts at busy street intersections. The police department has also taken over a number of other minor duties, all of which has added to the expense of conducting the department in an efficient manner.

The board then adjourned. It is expected that before the first of the year the police board will ask the civil service board for an eligible list from which to appoint a successor to Officer Snyder.

JURY GETS CASE OF MRS. NETTER

The action brought in supreme court by Anna V. Netter against David W. Squire which was taken up Friday morning for trial and completed Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the question submitted to the jury to hand up a sealed verdict Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock to which time court went into recess. The question submitted to the jury was whether Mrs. Netter had been damaged by reason of defendant's failure to sell a property on East Chester street which was being negotiated for, and if she had been damaged in what sum. The question as to whether there was a contract between the two parties was not submitted to the jury but decided by the court. The action is brought for specific performance of contract, it being alleged that an agreement was entered into to sell the property by defendant to plaintiff for a certain sum and that he later backed out and sold to another party. The action was to recover $500 damages and $50 for counsel fees for drawing up deed, searching title, etc.

Court will be convened Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which time trial will again be taken up. The grand jury in attendance at this term of court is still engaged in work and will not report until some time during the coming week. A great many matters have been brought up before the grand jury for investigation.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS.

"The Iron Trail," a Rex Beach story showing at Keeney's again tonight, has fulfilled all promises and stands out as a really big photoplay. More praise was heard of the Larry Seaman comedy, "The Bakery," than from any comedy yet presented at Keeney's. Monday and Tuesday the dashing lover, Rodolph Valentino, and Alla Nazimova in "Camille," is the Keeney attraction.

"Monte Cristo," at the Opera house at popular prices for the last time tonight, is Alexander Dumas' historic novel given real life and action on the screen.

Hoot Gibson in "Ridin' Wild," at the Auditorium, is a lively western romance with action, thrills and hard riding. A Century comedy and news weekly are also featured. Monday Harold Lloyd in the comedy, "Bumping Into Broadway," also Florence Vidor in "Woman Wake Up."

Double features, "Shirley Mason in 'Jackie,' and Jack Mullah in 'White and Yellow'" and vaudeville constitute the offering at the Orpheum today, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. "The Old Homestead," is the picture. Proving itself to be one of the most remarkable pictures of the year, "The Old Homestead," Denman Thompson's famous play has been admirably screened by Paramount and the production, from the standpoint of direction, portraiture and settings, is superb. Theodore Roberts, George Fawcett, T. Roy Barnes, Harrison Ford and Fritz Ridgway portray the principal roles.

"Jigger" Trolley on Fire. Friday evening a short circuit caused the one-man trolley car operating between Kingston Point and Abruzz street, now also as the "Jigger service car," to catch fire but the flames were extinguished with snow applied by George Wells, who is both motorman and conductor of the car. The damage was very slight and the car continued in operation.

Tu. Bay Platoon. Mrs. Edward Hoffman of 143 Henry street and Mrs. David O'Brien of 45 Sterling street have purchased genuine Kohler and Campbell pianos of A. E. Thomas, 261 Fair street.

KINGSTON POST ANNUAL MEETING

Stanley Matthews Elected Commander—Balance of $500.55 and $2,500 in Building Fund—Auxiliary Also Elects Officers.

The annual meeting of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion was held Friday evening at the armory at which time officers for the ensuing year were elected. There were about fifty members present and the election was a lively affair. The meeting was presided over by Vice-commander Herman DuBois. The following officers were elected:

Commander, Stanley Matthews; 1st vice-commander, Dr. Fred Snyder; 2nd vice-commander, James R. Howard; 3rd vice-commander, Edwin W. Ashby; adjutant, Eugene B. Carey; treasurer, R. Frederick Childsey; quartermaster, Edward Fitzgerald; athletic officer, Andrew J. Murphy; 1st sergeant-at-arms, Chris Melbert; historian, Frederick Hoffman; insurance officer, Thomas F. Coughlin; chaplain, the Rev. Roger B. T. Anderson.

The executive committee named is: Dr. A. H. Sutton, Edward Geschwinder, Frank L. Meagher, Robert Hutter, Clyde K. Wood, George W. Potter, Dr. John P. Reading, Daniel W. Benton, Fred Zoller, Henry Forst and Dr. William J. Cranston.

Archibald R. Leighton was elected county committeeman from Kingston Post.

B. V. Roach was re-elected editor-in-chief of the Legion monthly publication, "Our Own Number," with the following staff: Business manager, Eugene McConnell; circulation manager, Dr. A. M. Sutton.

The report of the adjutant, Eugene B. Carey showed that this office of the post had had a very active and profitable year assisting ex-service men in many ways and carrying out the work of assisting the men. The report was as follows:

I have the honor to present here-with my annual report as adjutant of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, for the year 1921-1922. Due to the fact that during the current year we advanced our annual meeting from August to December, this report covers one year and four months.

Our membership for the year was the smallest since organization, nevertheless, we accomplished considerable. The post continued to receive special attention and mention from the higher departments of our organization.

During the year we were honored by official visits from William F. Deegan, Commander of the Department of New York, the Hon. A. S. Callan, 1st Vice Commander, and Edward F. Schleibler, District Commander.

The Soldiers' Home on Albany avenue was not continued again this summer, neither was the Convalescent Home at Willow, N. Y., but the welfare committee, under direction of Past Commander Dittus, had many problems. They received numerous and varied calls for assistance and no worthy cause was turned down. Mr. Dittus was greatly assisted in this work because of his appointment as deputy commissioner of the New York State Soldiers' Aid Fund. We met every appeal for funds from the Veterans' Mountain Camp Committee, the exact amount of our donations can be learned from the treasurer's report.

We were represented in the civic life of our city by taking part in the Bridge Opening Celebration in November, 1921, having the honor position in the line of march. We again came forward and took part in the recent Kingston Exposition, from which we derived a great amount of good credit was again derived from our Employment Bureau maintained from January 3, 1922, to March 15, 1922, at a cost of $278, and through which forty-nine (49) of our buddies were placed in employment. For this work we received national credit and praise by receipt of a Certificate of Merit from national headquarters.

Our armistice ball on November 10 past was a most decided success and netted the post over over $900 in cash and thousands of words of praise. Our attempted minstrel revue in April of this year was a decided failure. It proves to us that we must arrange for some other means of raising funds at that time of the year and confine ourselves to local talent.

We assisted in observing Memorial Day by placing flags and grave markers on the graves of the ex-service men and women in our city and the surrounding towns not represented by the American Legion. We cared for forty-four (44) graves in the city and twenty-eight (28) outside. We have three (3) grave markers on hand.

Our membership for the first year was 520—for the last year 502 and this year we end with 420 paid up members. We enrolled forty-two (42) new members this year, which means that we have lost 124 of last year's member, or about 25 per cent.

Today we are carrying 315 address plates on the active mailing list, while there are 304 inactive address plates. If all who are joined still "carried on" with us, our membership would total over $60. One hundred twenty-one (121) of our 1922 paid up members live outside the city of Kingston. We have never held a real, good membership campaign. One was attempted in June and July of this year under the command of Post Commander R. C. Dittus. Forty-five (45) members were secured in those two months and then the campaign died. There

FOUR WORTHY AND NEEDY CASES

Catholic Charities Appeals for Christmas Contributions to Relieve Four Special Cases Whose Needs Are Set Forth.

The local agent for the Catholic Charities made a special appeal a few days ago for funds for the relief of four of the most needy cases, describing each case. These four cases are not provided for in the regular budget of the Catholic Charities and the only way to care for them is by special contributions. Less than $500 is required to do the entire work and it is hoped that contributions will be received in sufficient amount before Christmas. Ulster county has a reputation for being slow to start in cases like this, but for coming in strong on the final, a reputation that it is hoped will be lived up to in this case. Only a few more days remain if the money is to be available before Christmas. Contributions sent to Miss Mabel McClure, K. of C. Building, Kingston, will be promptly acknowledged.

The four cases and their needs are:

Case No. 1. Since her husband died two years ago, Mrs. A. has been striving bravely to keep a roof over the heads of herself and two children, Eddie, 16, and Joe, 2. The struggle would be won now but for Eddie's affliction. He is tubercular and cannot take his place by his mother's side as a wage-earner. However, the outlook is not hopeless. The young man is receiving good medical care and with nourishing food and rest his health will be restored, but he knows the burden of the home is too heavy for his mother to bear, and anxiety over the financial affairs of the family is a great handicap to his recovery. A small amount of nourishing food each week will soon place this family on its feet and mother and son are the type that will be a credit to the community and gratefully remember the helping hand of a friend.

Amount needed, $120.

Case No. 2. When B. met with an accident and had to give up his job, his wife stepped into his place as bread-winner, working hard from morning till night in a factory to support two youngsters—two rollicking boys of 11 and 8 and a baby girl of 3. But her income is small and she cannot make both ends meet. All she wants is help to buy milk for the children. No appeal touches the heartstrings like the plea of a child.

Amount needed, $52.

Case No. 3. It is hard to face the problem of life with the handicap that confronts Jane and Clara. Seven years ago when they were mere tots their father died of tuberculosis. The following years of over-work and anxiety for the home and children wrecked the mother's nerves and broke her health. It was necessary to break up the home and send the mother away for a long period of treatment. With courage beyond their years the girls wanted to go to work, but they were too young and arrangements have been made whereby they are under good care and have every opportunity to continue their education and fulfill high ambitions. They need help for clothing and incidental expenses. If they are given a chance for the next two or three years they will fill their place in life well, and mother and daughters will be reunited in a comfortable home.

Amount needed, $240.

Case No. 4. The sorrows and suffering of an unhappy married life all but destroyed Mary's faith in God and man. After the death of her husband she and her seven year old boy were so weak from undernourishment that friends thought that the task of caring for her child would be too great for her. But her mother's love was strong and she wanted the

XMAS ACTIVITY AT POST OFFICE

Early Action on Maturity Savings Stamps Desirable—Holiday Mail Starts Early Which Helps Employees.

Many holders of War Savings Stamps and Certificates are calling daily at the Kingston Post Office and stations exchanging for the new Treasury Savings Certificates or signing blank notice of their desire for cash payment January 2. This will lessen the work for the clerks and officials at the post offices during the Christmas rush and the first week in January when the redemptions will be particularly heavy. All holders are requested to call at their nearest station or the main post office and keep as much as they can spare invested in the new and attractive Treasury Certificates and sign the necessary form for the amount to be redeemed. Check will then be received on January 2 for the sum applied for from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. If the holder desires to invest in the new Treasury Certificates these are available at once and the exchange is made at the post office.

Christmas Rush Commencing. Many patrons have been mailing their holiday gifts and cards ahead of time, marking same "not to be opened until Christmas Day." This practice is most encouraging to the post office officials and employees. Nevertheless, all signs point to the largest holiday rush in the mails and parcel post in history this year. Postmaster De Witt and his staff are ready for a tremendous amount of incoming and outgoing mail but will appreciate early mailing the coming week.

Money Orders For Gifts. Many are giving money orders and Postal Savings Certificates as gifts for Christmas to out-of-town friends. This will start a savings account for someone who perhaps has never saved before.

THIEVES ENTER CIGAR FACTORY

Some time Friday night thieves broke open a rear window in the Charles Snyder cigar factory in the rear of his home, Broadway and Delaware avenue, and stole about fifteen boxes of cigars. The theft was reported to the police department this morning, and an investigation is being made.

No Plates On Stored Car. Editor, The Freeman: In your issue of today (December 14), notice regarding auto license plates reads: "No extension of time to auto owners who do not secure their 1923 plates by January 1." Does that apply to automobiles laid up for the winter? My car will probably not be taken out again until late in spring, or until good weather.

DAILY READER.

New plates are not necessary until you take the car out on the road.

Service at City Home. The Fair Street Reformed Church C. E. Society will hold a service at the City Home Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Members are requested to meet at the church at 3:30 o'clock, where automobiles will be in readiness to convey them to the City Home.

consolation of having her only child with her. Kindness and a helping hand restored her faith and self-confidence, and life again became worth living. She is partly self-supporting now, but further aid must be given until she becomes strong enough to provide for herself and child.

Amount needed, $156.

"GREATEST CURSE," ALLEN CALLS KLAN

Dangerous Alike To Protestant Catholic and Jew, Kansas Governor Tells Others in Conference—Is Organized Outlawry in a Country of Tolerance.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Dec. 15.—Branding the Ku Klux Klan as "organized outlawry," Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, in an address made before the conference of governors here today, denounced it as the "greatest curse that can come to any civilized people" and urged that steps be taken to eradicate it from America.

"The organization is as dangerous to the Protestant as it is to the Catholic, the Jew or the negro, because it exists only when the authority of government has been broken down and destroyed," he declared vehemently. "It brings chaos and hatred and menace to every law-abiding citizen who may fall victim of the private quarrels and animosities of the men who hide their identity behind a mask."

"The organization would be absurd, of course, if it were not for the undoubted hold which it has secured in many communities, and where it operates, of course, according to character of its membership in that local community. In many places the appeal to creed has brought into the organization some excellent men who believe that they are addressing themselves to a real problem when they draw lines of religious prejudice."

"It grows very rapidly when it strikes a community and it requires about a year of experience to convince its best members that the organization has no real place of usefulness in America. It arouses the most intense bitterness; in some of the communities where I am acquainted with its activities, friends of a lifetime have become estranged, families have been divided, men become suspicious of their neighbors, bigotry and intolerance have thrived, poisoned pens and serpent tongues have been busy spreading scandals."

"In the south and in the far west, they have committed many actual crimes upon individuals, and only recently they have invaded Kansas. There they have given us the shocking exhibition at Liberty, a small town in the central portion of the state, of taking the mayor of the town by violence, carrying him to a secluded place and whipping him because he refused to allow this masked society to hold a meeting in a hall which he owned in this community."

"In other parts of the state this Klan was used during the rail strike. The strikers, in communities where colored men were employed, put on the garb of this organization for the purpose of frightening those who were employed in the essential industry of transportation away from their work. They have introduced in Kansas the greatest curse that can come to any civilized people—that which arises out of the unrestrained passions of men, governed either by their religious intolerance or by their racial hatreds."

"In Kansas we are seeking to expel it from the state. Under the laws of Kansas, every organization doing business within the state must be chartered. The Ku Klux Klan has a charter under the laws of Georgia, but its charter has not been approved under the Kansas laws, and the action now pending in the supreme court of the state is for the purpose of securing a writ forbidding the Klan to do business hereafter in Kansas. As soon as this writ is issued, then the blazing cross and the pasture parties where men mask themselves and put on a fantastic ceremony in the open field and terrorize an entire neighborhood, will disappear."

"In Oklahoma a new masked order has grown up called 'The True Blue.' Its votaries wear blue masks and only recently they made an attempt to abduct the constable of Ada township and after the fight was over, two members of the True Blue were ready for the funeral and the constable was on his way to the hospital."

"The next organization might be the 'Fast Black.' The Atlanta emperor has no right to believe he has a monopoly on those individuals who wish to organize a masked government of their own."

"No more grotesque abuse of the term 'Americanism' could be used than to call this organization American. Americanism is tolerant, and this is organized intolerance; Americanism is law-abiding and this, carried to its final conclusion, is organized outlawry."

Services at Woodstock M. E. Church. Methodist Episcopal Church, Woodstock, N. Y. The Rev. John Entwistle, pastor, Friday evening, December 22, at 7:30, the children's Christmas entertainment, with songs, recitations, etc. Presents will be given. Sunday, December 24, morning worship, at 10:45. Sermon, "We Have Seen His Star in the East, and Have Come to Worship Him." Preaching by the pastor. Sunday school, at 9:45 a. m. and Epworth League, at 7:00 p. m.

Hymn Matched With Young Test. Donald Hyatt of this city will meet a good opponent in his boxing bout Monday evening, December 18, at the Collier City Athletic Club. He is matched for a six round bout with Young Test of Troy, former amateur champion, who beat Glenn Champlin of Albany recently. On the same card Vincent Coffey will box Sammy Gaddy of New York city in the feature event.

Ryan Discovers Burned Car. The Franklin town car that was destroyed by fire on the Marlborough road at 11 o'clock Thursday night was not owned by him. Louis W. Sapp of this city is said to have been the owner.

Dance Tonight. The usual Saturday night dance will take place at Mann's Hall this evening. Music by Balfe's orchestra.

FIRST PRESIDENT OF POLISH REPUBLIC IS ASSASSINATED

Gabriel Narutowicz, Elected One Week Ago, Instantly Killed by Bullets from Artist's Gun—Political Factions Threaten to Clash.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Warsaw, Dec. 16.—President Gabriel Narutowicz of the republic of Poland, was assassinated today. He was elected one week ago today, being the first president of the republic.

President Narutowicz was shot to death at the opening of an art exhibition. Three shots were fired, all entering the president's body. Death was almost instantaneous.

The assassin was arrested on the scene. He said his name was Niedzwiedzinski and that he was an artist. He said that he had been inspired to kill the president because "he believed it best."

News of the assassination caused a tremendous stir throughout the city and clashes were threatened between various political factions.

PROHIBITIONISTS SING "SWAN SONG"

Leaders of Party in Ulster in Annual Meeting Not Downcast Over Losing Place on Ballot—Will Use Money Left to Promote Prohibition and if Possible Restore Emblem to Ballot.

(Official Report.) The Prohibitionists of Ulster county held their annual meeting Friday, December 15, at the Dr. C. O. Sahler Sanitarium.

Edward A. Smiley, vice chairman, called the meeting to order. The "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was sung and the Rev. John B. Steketee of Kingston offered prayer.

It might be said that Mrs. A. H. Hayes led the singing, accompanied by Mrs. William Jackson.

Later Mrs. Hayes sang "If Your Heart Keeps Right" by Ackery, and later still "Unanswered" by Birchhoff. In both cases accompanied by Mrs. Jackson. The singing was greatly appreciated and roundly applauded.

The chairman, Leslie Herring, took the chair and read a lengthy address, which will appear in a later issue of The Freeman.

Mrs. Colvin was cheered when she entered the room and also H. Westlake Coons, who was a guest at the meeting.

The treasurer, P. N. Chase, gave an itemized report of moneys received and disbursed, showing all bills paid and some money in the treasury.

It was decided that this money should be held for at least one year, or until use should be found for it in some work conducted for the party or kindred work. Later, more money was pledged to our part in getting our party on the official ballot, should it be deemed wise by the executive committee of the state.

The officers, Leslie Herring, chairman, Edward A. Smiley and Myra S. Whiston, vice-chairmen, P. N. Chase, secretary and treasurer, together with Nathan Ackhart, Charlotte Sahler and John Herring, were named as the County Executive Committee.

It was ordered that money expended for advertising by the chairman in the late campaign, should be paid. It was also ruled that some money should be sent to the state treasurer if needed. Various discussions were held on the various motions and some good and cheering speeches were made by those present.

Mr. Colvin, state lecturer of the W. C. T. U. spoke to the delight of all. An adjournment was made for dinner which was served in the usually faultless style of the sanitarium. The Rev. John Anthony of this city having said grace, the menu being:

Worcestershire
Queen Olives Tomato Catsup
English Beef Broth
Celery Gherkins
Roast Ulster County Pork, Dressing
Cranberry Sauce
Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Green Beans
Baked Silver Onions Tomato Salad
Mayonnaise
Swieback, Bran Muffins, Bran Cookies
Home Made Apple Pie
Whole Wheat Bread
Coffee Tea Cocoa Milk

After dinner, Dr. Chase, acting as toastmaster, introduced H. Westlake Coons, who spoke with eloquence and earnestness of present conditions, and gave prophecy of what the few years just before us would bring. Time after time he was cheered.

Then Mrs. Colvin gave a most convincing address and as ever delighted all listeners.

Mrs. Martha H. Bell, for many years president of the County W. C. T. U., S. H. Stevens of Tillson and others spoke before the final adjournment.

There was no note of sadness in the entire meeting. The most had done their best, although the Prohibitionists in this county as well as in other counties of the state voted for Miller thus losing their place on the official ballot. The vote on local candidates was the largest ever from 1893 to 1917. It was mentioned that Burns and Coons together had 800 more votes than Ward in the county.

The thought seemed to be unanimous that we would either restore the party or work in other lines which may be as effective.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable day and going the audience was nearly up to the last meeting. Plates for 40 were laid at dinner.

LOCALS WIN BASKETBALL GAME BY SCORE OF 50 TO 19.

Bilkens, much aggrieved, was before the court for speeding.
 "What have you to say for yourself?" demanded the magistrate.
 "Tisn't fair," remonstrated Bilkens, angrily. "Why don't you arrest that motor cop there? He was goin' faster than I was."

"I bought a car in here several weeks ago," said the retired farmer, "and you said if anything went wrong, you would supply the broken parts, didn't you?"

"Surely."

"Well, then, I'd like to get a nose, a shoulder blade and a big toe."

Revived.

"Hi there!" shouted the village constable.
 "Do you know you're goin' forty miles an hour?"

"Yeah," shouted the motorist, passing on. "I can't help it. I'm full o' carbon an' my carburetor's dirty, but wait'll I get 'er cleaned!"

KERHONKSON RURAL CARRIER EXAMINATION.

Examination to fill the position of rural carrier at Kerhonkson and vacancies that may later exist on rural routes from that post, office is announced for January 13, 1923, at Ellenville, by the United States Civil Service Commission through Congressman Charles B. Ward.

The salary of a rural carrier on a standard daily wagon route of twenty-four miles is $1,800 yearly, with an additional $30 per mile per year for each mile or major fraction thereof in excess of 24 miles. The salary on motor routes ranges from $2,450 to $2,600 yearly according to length. Separate examinations for motor routes and wagon routes are no longer held. Appointments to both positions will be made from the same register. The examination will be open only to citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of the post office where the vacancy exists and who meet the other requirements set forth. Both men and women may enter this examination, if qualified.

THE LEGEND OF FATHER SUN

WHEN the Navajos came up out of the world of twilight into the world of sunshine and light they were very happy, and with one accord they fell on their knees and made sacrifice to the Father Sun who brightened the heavens and made the world warm and comfortable for the tribesmen.

When they had become settled in their new world and had built their homes and made their fires, then they planted their crops in order that they might live in comfort. Round about them they planted golden maize, and grain and many foods. Their flocks they took into the green fields to eat of the grass, and their horses and their cattle they turned loose to roam in the beautiful valley where they had come.

But as the days went on the crops failed, and the grass turned brown and the streams dried up and the Navajos were much perturbed, for they knew not what to do. For the sun, sweeping through the sky, had come close to earth, and the heat, which at first had seemed pleasant, became unbearable—and even the tribesmen themselves were made sick by the brightness of its rays. Many there were among the tribesmen who wished themselves back in the world of twilight, but the road had been closed and only a great mountain remained to mark where the roadway had been.

As the summer came on many of the tribesmen became sick unto death, for the heat was terrific—but there was no place to go and no place to turn, for all the world was a vast desert, burned by the rays of the Father Sun.

As matters became worse and worse the tribesmen became desperate and finally, one day, called a great council of the chief, and the head men and the witch doctors. For ten days and ten nights these men sat in solemn convocation to determine what best might be done to relieve their oppressed people.

Finally, at the end of the ten days and the ten nights they called the tribe together, and the whole tribe, even the women and the children, went to the top of a high hill and there they built altars and offered up sacrifices, and prayed to the Father Sun that he might move back into the heaven so his rays would not be so hot.

When they had prayed for a long time then the Father Sun sent down to them a lesser god from the sky, and the lesser god came up to the chiefs and the medicine men and told them that the sun had heard their prayer.

"And so long as you remain faithful to the Father Sun, who provides you with heat and with light, so long will he protect you," the messenger said. "And when another day comes then will the sun move back in the heavens and the grass will grow green, and water will flow through the streams, and flowers will bloom, and the land will be a land of happiness and prosperity for the Navajos."

When he had finished speaking the messenger disappeared in a great cloud, and the people marvelled much and fell on their faces and gave thanks.

When another day came it was as the messenger had said, for the sun had moved back into the sky, and the air was cool and the trees grew leaves and the corn sprouted, and flowers bloomed and the world was a world of happiness.

So it has been to this day. And the sun who is the father who protects the Navajos, has ever warmed the earth with his rays and caused the corn to grow and the flowers to bloom.

Nor have the Navajos forgotten the promise they made many years ago, on the great hilltop, when the world was young. Each morning when they arise they face toward the east, and give thanks to the Father Sun who gives them warmth and light, and each night they face toward the west and give thanks for the day that has gone.

Here in our village, if you will look, you will see that every house faces the east, and each morning we are awakened by the early rays of the sun which come in through the doors and the windows—for that is as it should be, and even as it was promised by the great chiefs ages ago when the Navajos came out of the world of twilight into the world of sunshine and light.

Note—To this day the Navajo tribes of Arizona and New Mexico continue to build their houses facing the east. Even in the large villages the houses are built on one side of the street only, in order that the time-honored tradition may not be broken.

Sanford Hurt In Fall

John Sanford, employed at the cigar store of H. J. Hoffman, John street, as porter and who is in charge of the bootblack stand there, was injured Friday evening about 6 o'clock by reason of a fall through an open trap doorway leading from the sidewalk to the furnace room under the branch office of the Freeman in the Corbett row, 288 Fair street. Janitor Grubbs, had gone to the furnace room to fix the fire in the boiler and had left the door open when Mr. Sanford came along and walked into the opening. The janitor hearing

J. B. Strauss, noted Chicago bridge builder, has a plan to bridge the famous Golden Gate in San Francisco with the greatest span in the history of the world. The center span would be 4,000 feet long, and the towers higher than Eiffel Tower, in Paris, the tallest structure in the world. The towers would be provided with elevators for sightseers. The bridge, cantilever and suspension affair, would connect San Francisco and Marin County to the north.

This is a photograph of Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson and her husband, Clarence Thompson, who were arrested in Chicago in the midst of a spiritualistic seance at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Thompson claims to be the world's greatest psychoanalyst and an associate of Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir A. Conan Doyle. They were arrested while an audience (paid admissions, too) waited to see the ghost walk.

the noise when Mr. Sanford in his fall struck his head against the other iron door and rushed to see what had happened. He found the man dangling down the stairway and assisted Sanford to Dr. H. P. Van Wagoner's office on John street nearby, and the doctor found that he had sustained a deep cut under one eye across the cheek which necessitated the taking of three or four stitches to close. He also sustained a bruise on the forehead and considerable shock. Later Sanford went to his home at 49 Emerick street. He is blind in one eye.

THE PORT OF MISSING MEN

The United States Veterans' bureau has requested the American Legion to help find Robert C. Page who disappeared recently from St. Elizabeth's hospital in Washington, D. C. According to a letter from C. W. Swan, chief of the Division of Information, Page is a neuro-psychiatric case and may have suffered from amnesia. His father is very anxious to get in touch with him.

Page enlisted in the army as a private, Flying School Detachment, Air Service, January 9, 1918, at San Diego, Calif. He was honorably discharged June 20, 1919. He is twenty-five years of age, about five feet six inches tall; has blue eyes, dark brown hair, and has a deep scar in the rim of his right ear. His complexion is sallow. It is believed he went to California.

He has been employed at the following places: Sellers Manufacturing company, Chicago; Cuyahoga Works, Cuyahoga, Cleveland, O.; 1234 Washington street, Chicago, and 108 Carpenter street, Chicago.

Page is a claimant of the United States Veterans' Bureau. Information as to his whereabouts should be forwarded to his father, W. H. Page, 150, the Portner Apartments, Washington, D. C., or to the Information Section U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

Frederick Pasch.

The Thirteenth Post No. 513, Brooklyn, N. Y., of the American Legion, has requested that any information regarding the whereabouts of Frederick Pasch be sent to it, 337 Sumner avenue, headquarters at the Thirteenth Coast Defense Command armory. Pasch disappeared July 25, having left home in apparent good health. He is a World war veteran, having served overseas with the One Hundred and Fourteenth Infantry, Twenty-ninth division. He is five feet nine inches tall, weighs 165 pounds, has brown eyes and hair, and is twenty-five years old. His wife's address is 312 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn.

Headquarters, department of Texas, at Dallas, requests information as to the whereabouts of Cecil T. Lavender, last heard from at Bakersfield, Calif. His brother, William Irving Lavender, Box 96, Lancaster, Tex., is anxious about him. The missing man is described as six feet one inch tall, has brown hair and eyes, weighs 190 pounds, is thirty-six years old, and was wounded while in France.

A man by the name of Powers, killed accidentally in the Aloah logging camp in Washington, was buried by Hoquiam Post No. 16 of the American Legion, which is seeking the address of his relatives. The following information was obtained from Ottawa, Canada: "No. 334744; Clarence Raymond Powers; served with the Canadian overseas forces. Brother, John Powers, last address known, 583 Arch street, Philadelphia." The present address of John Powers could not be found in Philadelphia.

GOOD USE OF HIS TRAINING

Former Soldier, New Merrill (Wis.) Legion Member and Policeman, Dispenses Robber Band.

George Severt.

George Severt of Merrill, Wis., is another of those fighting men whom Uncle Sam trained for fighting and who has in peace times proved he was trained well. Severt is a member of the Merrill police force. A gang of yeggmen, in the darkness of night, attempted to rob the post office. Severt discovered the outlaws several in number at work on the vault. He challenged the lookout, as the American doughboy used to challenge on the firing line, and his answer was a hail of bullets. Drawing his revolver, Severt engaged in a battle of bullets, driving the robbers to cover behind a corner of the building.

Then the policeman, who is a member of the Edward Burns Post, American Legion, at Merrill, ran around the building to attack from the rear. And his attack was so hot that the yeggmen fled precipitately.

"BEST FRIEND OF LEGION"

Retiring Commander MacNider Gives New Title to Former U. S. Judge K. M. Landis.

The high commissioner of baseball, former U. S. Judge Kenneth Mountain Landis, received the greatest ovation of his life at the national convention of the American Legion in New Orleans— not one, but eight after night and day after day.

One instance shows the love in which he is held by the veterans. He was seized in the lobby of the Grunewald hotel one evening, lifted to the shoulders of cheering Legionnaires and a parade started. Soon a drum and bugle corps joined the crowd. Then a band dropped into line about 1,000 men back. Not to be outdone another band took its place in line another 1,000 men back. When the parade again entered the Grunewald, there were besides the drum and bugle corps, the two bands and about 3,000 men.

In introducing Landis, Commander MacNider told of being asked in Paris his opinion as to who typifies everything one likes to think of an American. Theodore Roosevelt then having died, MacNider said he didn't know, but since becoming acquainted with Landis he knows now that he would have named him, "the best friend of the American Legion."

That Landis enjoyed his visit to New Orleans and with his "buddies" is evidenced by the closing sentence of his address to the convention:

"I want in taking leave of you to remind you, the various fellows from the states, and the fellows in the convention as a whole, I want you to remember that while I was on the sidelines when you were making and unmaking maps of the world and re-writing history, I want you to remember that I have got a lot of idle time on my hands—that according to the judgment of the best doctors in the world, I have got a minimum of thirty-five years of activity ahead of me, and that next year and five years from now, and ten and fifteen and twenty and twenty-five years from now, you and I, men and women of the Legion, have an annual engagement at the American Legion National convention."

CALL HER "MOTHER" NYE

Albuquerque (N. M.) Auxiliary Official is Loved by Thousands of Hospital Patients.

Mrs. Santa Claus.

Mrs. Santa Claus, the good woman, the sunshine lady, and (commonest and best of all) Mother Nye—these are some of the titles that have been showered upon Mrs. Belle Nye of Albuquerque, N. M. All the boys in the hospital at Fort Bayard lovingly call her "Mother Nye," and no name could please her more.

Mrs. Nye worked ardently all during the war in Red Cross and other patriotic drives and started her relief work when the first casualties were brought back overseas. She is active constantly for ex-service men and women throughout New Mexico, and is interested in, above all others, the disabled ones. Within the past 14 months she has made more than 16,000 sick calls. Thousands of patients throughout the Southwest know and love her.

"Distributing smiles, sunshine, flowers and happiness to all, Mrs. Belle Nye of Albuquerque arrived in the post on Monday. Mother Nye, as she is affectionately known, needs no introduction to the patients here." So begins an account of one of her visits published in the Fort Bayard newspaper. It goes on to tell that she brought flowers from the Eastern Star at Albuquerque, and boudoir caps from the Boylston (Mass.) unit of the American Legion Auxiliary for the women patients.

Mrs. Nye was born in Owosso, Mich., and is eligible to the American Legion Auxiliary through her husband, Allen Edward Nye. He was born in Paola, Kan., and was commissioned first lieutenant in the engineer corps during the war and assigned to the Twenty-first engineers. Mrs. Nye is the first national historian of the Auxiliary, and is also the first president of the department of New Mexico.

$6,962.95 for Poppies. Disabled former service men in the hospitals of Minnesota were paid $6,962.95 for poppies their fingers fashioned for poppy sales by the American Legion Auxiliary, according to a report made by Mrs. O. A. Clark of Minneapolis. The disabled men made a total of 684,186 poppies for the 1922 sale.

Doughnut-Doughnut Reunion. The Salvation Army established a reunion between the doughnut and the doughnut at the recent American Legion national convention in New Orleans. "Doughnuts, coffee and salvation—free" was the slogan hung out at numerous booths in convention hall and at various points on the downtown streets.

Growing as It Moves. What the tender and poetic youth dreams today, and conjures up with fantastic speech, is tomorrow the vociferous result of public opinion, and the day after is the character of nations.—Powers.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL.

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

JANET

JANET, sometimes spelled Janette, bears no relationship to Jane, paradoxical as it may seem. As early as the Thirteenth century, Geneta appeared as a feminine proper name, long before Jane, Joan, or Johanna were known to us. In the Fourteenth and Fifteenth centuries, Genet made her appearance and by a process of evolution there came Janeta, Janette and finally Janet, though the latter is by far the most modern form of the name.

History, which records innumerable instances of Janet and her derivatives being used with extreme popularity in those early times, likewise chronicles the amusing and almost unbelievable story of one Willhelms Richardson and his wife Christiana who had a family of eighteen children and became so destitute for names for this extraordinary brood that they had two Johannes, two Willhelms, two Christinas, and three Janets. Strange to relate, this was not an unusual custom of duplication in those days.

Geneta was an old Frankish form of Janet which was exceedingly popular, indeed, it is thought to be so direct a forerunner as to be conclusive proof that Janet sprang from it and from Geneta—not from any form of John. Geneta is another early form that appears in old Frankish chronicles. Undoubtedly Janet was left behind in France and became confused with Jean, hence erroneous modern belief that the two names are interchangeable. Like its offspring Jessie, Janet means "grace of the Lord."

Her talismanic stone is onyx, which unless it has some mystic significance for the wearer as in this instance, should be avoided, since it cools the ardor of love, provokes discord and separates lovers. Worn by one who has a mystic right to it, a happy marriage is promised. Monday is Janet's lucky day and six her lucky number.

An unforgettable poem was written by an early poet to "Janette": "Your eyes had a swimming glory, Janette, revealing the old dear story—my pet. They were grey, with that charmed tinge of the sky. When the trout leaps quickest to seek the fly. And they matched with your golden hair—my pet." (© by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"HUMBLE PIE"

THE expression "to eat humble pie"—meaning to humiliate or abuse oneself or to make an abject apology for a fault committed—dates back to the days of medieval England, when the forests of the nobles were well stocked with deer and venison pie was a distinctly common article of diet.

The refuse of the deer, together with the other portions of the animal which were considered unfit for the consumption of the nobility, were known as the "humbles" and were given to the poor, who, in turn, made pies of them in imitation of their masters in the castle. "Humble-pie" therefore became suggestive of poverty, or the acceptance of favors and was later applied to degradations of other kinds in a metaphorical sense. In time, possibly through the Cockney habit of using h's where they don't belong, the word "humble" became "humble" and, as such, is in general use today—though the vast majority of people would see no connection between it and the refuse left after cleaning the carcass of a deer.

Why Nervousness Is An Enemy to Health

Weekly Health Talk
By Froude & Mac Kinnon, D. C.

Nervousness is an enemy to health because it prevents rest and relaxation. Nervous people cannot sit still, and therefore do not get the rest they should from a sitting position. Nervousness prevents sound sleep, and it is equally guilty of preventing concentration, or the ability to hold the mind on a given line of thought for any length of time.

Nervousness is caused by irritating pressure on spinal nerves. This pressure is caused at the spinal nerve opening by displacement of spinal bones from their true alignment. The correction of this defective alignment lies solely in the hands of the chiropractor, whose science teaches him how to detect such points of pressure, and how to make the proper adjustments to start the displaced bone back into proper position. There is no better method of overcoming nervousness than by chiropractic spinal adjustments.

K. H. S. FIVE WINS FIRST TIME OUT

Defeats Ellenville High in Fast Clean Game 20-18—Burger High Point Getter.

Fulfilling the prophecy of those who have seen them practice, the Maroon and White quintet opened their season with a victory Friday evening, defeating the team of Ellenville High School by a score of 20-18. The Kingston team lived up to their reputation from start to finish, making the game a lively one throughout. Each man did his part in the winning of the contest, playing hard and consistently. The formations that Coach Buley has taught the fellows, together with the passing ability of the locals had the visitors bewildered, and the excellent guarding of Kingston on the defense held the Ellenville squad to only five field goals, one of which was scored in the first half and four in the second. The whole of the first half was one running up a score for Kingston, ending in a 20-6 lead; but at the beginning of the second half the visitors started to gain, getting three field goals and a foul before the Maroon and White team made a single point. Then Burger broke the ice by caging a foul and following it with a field. The dangerous wave soon passed and Kingston again became the leader in play as well as in score. Out of 29 tries, Kingston made good 13 from the foul line, Burger making all the points won this way out of his 25 attempts. Burger was the high point getter of the locals, while Bachman excelled for the visitors, making three of their field goals and caging eight out of eighteen from the foul line.

Enough students showed their loyalty to the school and team to make the crowd number over a hundred fifty.

Following the game, the members of the school and alumni danced, members of the board of education acting as chaperons.

WERE BARBER AND SURGEON

Centuries Ago, Members of the Present-Day Guild Embraced the Two Avocations.

A reminder of the survival of the ancient trade guilds in London, long after their members have ceased to have any connection with trades they ostensibly represent, is provided by the recent election of a chairman of the Company of Barbers.

The new chairman never was a barber, and if any of his ancestors were he has forgotten it. And the same is true of all the members of the company. But they are very proud of the old traditions of the company and get together on stated occasions to eat a generous dinner, washed down with good wine, and listen to speeches about the good old times.

The company was incorporated in 1481 and fifty years later an act was passed which prevented any persons not members of the company from practicing surgery within seven miles of the city of London, unless they had been licensed by the bishop of London. Barbers were versatile folk in those times, combining the avocations of surgeon and dentist with the work of trimming hair and beards.—From a London Letter to the New York Evening Post.

Odd Contrasts in China. No country anywhere else presents such striking contrasts as China. On the land the farmer is doing his work by primitive methods precisely as his ancestors did a thousand years ago, while in the city his brother or son is driving an engine, running a cotton mill or operating a cold-storage plant. The extraordinary feature is that the nation that invented credit, gunpowder, paper, ink, printing, glass and porcelain should, after the lapse of all the centuries, be engaged in acquiring what amounts to the second steps in the advancement of the very arts and crafts that it introduced.—Isaac F. Marcossion in the Saturday Evening Post.

Dream Lore in Schools. Much valuable information as to the mental makeup of a child could be obtained from a study of his dreams. Dr. C. W. Kimball, an English savant, recently declared during a discussion on psycho-analysis and education at a recent meeting of the British association at Hull. It would be interesting, he suggested, to hear from psychologists to what extent children's dreams could be used for school purposes. Doctor Kimball emphasized the danger of extravagant hopes in regard to the use of psycho-analysis for educational purposes, which might lead to an infinite amount of harm.

HOW TO USE SOFT COAL IN FURNACE

Method of Firing Different From That Used in Burning Anthracite—Use Care in Making.

By Telegraph to The Freeman, Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 15.—The coal shortage is forcing many homes to use soft, or bituminous, coal this winter, and some are having difficulty in getting satisfactory results. The home economists workers at Cornell offer some suggestions. Anthracite, they say, is best fed all over the fire surface, but bituminous should be fired by placing the fresh charge on one side of the grate only, leaving a part of the live coals uncovered so that the gas from the fresh coal is ignited. It is declared to be dangerous to cover the entire fire bed with a heavy charge of fresh bituminous coal.

Draft regulation is suggested to start the proper burning of bituminous; a heavy draft is frequently necessary to start a fresh fire. Bituminous requires more constant attention than anthracite. Coke is a very desirable fuel, clean and convenient. It is bituminous coal from which the volatile matter has been removed. It is almost smokeless. A furnace requires much less attention when burning coke.

A deep bed of fuel is best in coke burning, and after the fire is started the pot should be filled. The chimney draft should be kept slightly open, and the check draft closed for a brisk fire. Very little draft is needed after the fire is started. The fire should never be poked, and should be cleaned only when quite necessary.

The fire should not be shaken after the first live sparks appear below the grate. Coke responds very quickly to the opening of drafts. It has a fairly high heat value but the fire requires rather frequent attention unless the fire pot is deep. Its chief disadvantage is its greater bulk, and the fact that more ready combustion occasionally, in very cold weather, necessitates attention being paid to the fire during the night. The federal bureau of mines suggests that if there is any anthracite to be had, a quantity be kept on hand for use at night during extremely cold periods.

Would Speak for Itself. The small boy entered the butcher's shop whistling briskly, and deposited a sheep's head on the counter. "Mr. Jones," he said, "mother's sent back this meat," and turned on his heel and started to leave. But the butcher wanted an explanation. "What's wrong with it, sonny?" he asked. "Well," sonny replied, "mother didn't say what was wrong with it. She only said 'leave it,' and the head will speak for itself."

Curious Hedgehogs. There are several living specimens in "zoos" of the "tenrec," the hedgehog of Madagascar. It is said that stuffed specimens in museums give no adequate idea of these very curious creatures. Their resemblance to hedgehogs rests only upon their possession of a spiny covering. The shape of their bodies resembles that of an inflated globe fish. They are insectivorous, and are declared to be restricted to the island of Madagascar. The specimens seen in this country are remarkable for their habit of yawning.

Static. Static is an abbreviation of "static electricity." It manifests itself whenever the atmosphere is charged with electricity. In summer there may be electrical discharges between clouds visible and invisible, or a flash of lightning between sky and earth. When this occurs, nature is sending her own crashing signals through the ether—signals that are received by every radio apparatus within scores of miles, signals that manifest themselves as a sizzling and spluttering akin to that of frying fat. They are much worse in summer than in winter.

FOOTBALL BANQUET OF 1922 PLAYERS

ES-Y and "T" Auxiliary Provide For Over 100 M. E. Students—Chairman of Team to Result in Better Eleven Next Year.

Friday evening the football banquet for the 1922 gridiron fellows of Kingston High School was held in the banquet room of the Y. M. C. A. At 8:30 some hundred fellows from the student body, together with the eleven, sat down to a bountiful dinner. The banquet was sponsored by the ES-Y Club and served by the members of the auxiliary. Mrs. Dwyer prepared the dinner, and from the way the boys enjoyed it, the caterer is certainly some cook. The menu consisted of:

Tomato soup
Oyster crackers
Celery
Olives
Pickles
Roast Lamb
Mashed potatoes with gravy
Apple pie a la mode

Following the supper, President Sumpt. of the ES-Y Club, acting as chairman, called upon Mr. Hermann, coach of the team, to say a few words. Mr. Hermann praised the unending zeal of the fellows in trying to do their best for the school on the gridiron. Captain Davis was called upon, and he too praised their splendid spirit, thanking them for the support they had given him and wishing the team of '23 the best of luck. The chairman then asked Mr. Buley to say a few words on "How to Keep Everyone Happy," for that is the task which is a serious one for all physical directors.

Mr. Buley said there were only two ways he could make the fellows laugh; he would give them the preference or viewing him then or going home and looking into their own mirror. The jest brought hearty applause. Then, not to forget the man who has all school matters to care for, Sumpt. called for a few words from Mr. Lewis on the spirit of the team. Mr. Lewis said that in every way, on the field in practice and contest, and in the school, these fellows have shown an excellent spirit the entire season. He said that they are deserving of much credit for sticking to their job until the last, despite the fact that they were continually losing. He said that he believed that there will come some good from this slow season, that the sacrifices of the team will bear fruit next year.

This team members have shown themselves to be good fighters and good sportsmen wherever they were, and as they have left in the places they visited a reputation that does their school credit. Next year the team will be very much stronger, because of the sacrifices of this year's team, and Mr. Lewis assured the fellows that he intended to do all he possibly could to get the coaching part straight at the beginning of the season so that they can get a good start.

Mr. Hall had been trying to get a noted football man to speak, but the twenty or so replies were of the usual "sorry, can't come" type. Even the sporting writer who had been practically secured sent his regrets. So it fell to the lot of Mr. Hall to do the talking himself.

Mr. Hall first read the football code, which states that the spirit of football is good sportsmanship. The speaker then told of several instances in games of the big colleges where this spirit was displayed to the utmost. According to Lawrence Perry, football as a sport has turned out more ministers than anything else. In one big college game, one fellow was tackled very heavily by a big fellow who came running toward him at such speed that he could not stop when he saw the ball go out of bounds. He expected to see the fellow whom he tackled get up and "bawl him out" for it. Instead, the other fellow got up, and as he went to take his position in the line-up he turned and winked at the fellow who had just thrown him so hard. This self-control is a big feature in football. One story is told of a quarter-back's trying the same play six times without result; he plugged away at the same place ceaselessly. Finally on the seventh try, his man went through and scored a touchdown. The training to stick to it is another big thing gained from football. The thing which is best of all, however, is the good sportsmanship. That is what makes a game a big game; the spirit that is shown by the "Big Three" is what really makes Princeton, Yale and Harvard the big three of the east. Their games are almost markedly full of good turns for the "other" fellow, helping the injured men of the opposing side and such capricious acts.

This spirit has shown itself very prominently in the games between Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Kingston. These teams have played sportsmanlike football this year that has never been exceeded. If this spirit is kept up, the day is sure to come when these three schools will be known as the "Big Three of the Hudson."

The next number was the entertainment, and despite the disappointment, the fellows were made merry again when "Happy Harry" Hayden of New York City took the floor. He started off by telling why they called him "Happy Harry." He said he is always happy because he is an optimist, and his definition for an optimist is "a man who doesn't care what happens as long as it doesn't happen to him." He then told several amusing stories, so connected as to seem his autobiography. After finishing that he sang a song on the football team. Then, turning from the oratorical part, he became a magician; but "Happy Harry" is so honest that he didn't want to deceive the fellows with his sleight of hand performance. So he explained just how the tricks are done, and yet when he had shown how to do the tricks, the fellows were more surprised than ever, for he showed himself capable of concealing articles in his hand while he was showing how to do it, which they never saw at all. He added a bit of comedy by trying to make the "spirits" work, and with the aid of a football man, succeeded in mimicking a regular seance, in a clever way. When Harry sat down, it was only the desire to be on time for the basketball game that made the fellows stop applauding. The banquet from every viewpoint was a complete success.

NOT LEARNED FROM SARACENS

New Version of the Invention of the Rosary Found in Pages of Ancient Historian.

Catholic authorities have attributed the invention of the rosary to St. Dominic, founder of the famous Dominican order. But evidence of a still earlier origin of the rosary has come to light. It is related of Lady Godiva by William of Malmesbury that she bequeathed to the monastery of Coventry "a circlet of gems, which she had threaded on a string, in order that by fingering them one by one, she successfully recited her prayers, she might not fall short of the exact number."

"This, if authentic," says Cornelius H. Patton, in Asia Magazine, "is interesting as disposing of the theory, often held, that the Roman Catholics of Europe learned the use of the rosary from the Saracens at the time of the Crusades. Lady Godiva must have passed from the scene several years before Godfrey led his conquering host into Asia Minor and Palestine. More recent Catholic authorities call attention to the fact that, although the Roman Catholic rosary in its present standard form of 108 beads, divided into "mysteries" or decades, is Dominican, the followers of St. Dominic did not become interested in the rosary until the closing years of the fifteenth century.—Detroit News.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CHRISTMAS AIR

"Of course," said Santa Claus to his reindeer. "I can't help but be cheery and gay and merry just as I am, for I have so many, many friends. And it delights me so that all the children are so different."

"I love to have them all different. I wouldn't want all boys to be just alike in their ways and all girls alike in theirs."

"Many, many stockings," said Santa Claus, "perfectly, perfectly splendid. You all know that."

And the bells of the reindeer jingled as they went along through the cold, crisp, clear winter air.

Santa Claus had just finished his Christmas work. He had filled any number of stockings; oh, so many, many stockings! And he had trimmed trees and arranged presents. Gracious, but he had been busy!

"And how he had loved it all. Every bit of his work he had loved. He had seen the children asleep and he had left his work of unpacking the presents for many a look at his little sleeping friends. And now he was back and his reindeer were taking him home. He was calling out stories about the children to them as they went along, little notes he had received, and some of them had left him little notes wishing him a Merry Christmas, and that pleased him so much."

He told the reindeer, too, of how they looked and of Helen's hair tied up so tightly in rings so it would be curly on Christmas day. And it had looked quite quaint and pretty tied so close to her head.

Then Santa Claus began to sing:

"Heigh-ho, heigh-ho, the Merry Christmas season!
My children have made me the King of a Day.
With them as my subjects I can't help but be gay!

I chuckle and smile and I laugh and I shout,
As I think of the numbers of children about!
I can't feel the cold with my heart so well warmed,
Heigh-ho, heigh-ho, the Merry Christmas season!"

The reindeer jingled their bells more than ever and Santa Claus began to sing again:

"The Christmas and the stockings hanging up, heigh-ho, heigh-ho,
The letters and the messages, and everything, just so,
All for Christmas Day, all for Christmas Day,
And that's the very right way!

For Christmas Day is the day of the year
When we all are so merry and full of good cheer,
And Santa comes a-calling and it delights him very much,
For then with all his children he keeps in such close touch.

And children are the best of all,
Santa Claus knows! Santa Claus knows!"

And so Santa Claus went on singing, and singing and the reindeer made music for his songs as they did when he sang about his work during the days and the nights before Christmas.

For they always wanted to make music for Santa's songs and before he started they wanted to let him know that they were ready. And on his way home they wanted to join in the gay merriment of the season.

"You know," said Santa Claus, "I am going to send a message to the children this very day. I people think that there's a certain feeling in the air at Christmas time which is different from that at any other time. And it is different. For it is filled with the echoes of Santa's laughter and the music of the sleigh bells in the frosty, clear air, and that is what they really hear!"

"Oh yes, the air is very different at Christmas time, and while everyone feels there is something wonderful about it unlike that at any other time of the year they do not know what it really means. And so I am telling them."

"They hear the echoes of Santa's laughter and of his singing and of the music of the bells of the reindeer. And the air is full of these sounds, and of the echoes of every Merry Christmas which Santa Claus shouts and sings and whispers, and Santa Claus wishes many Merry Christmases, I can tell you!"

A Soft Answer.

Freshman—"I'm doing my best to get ahead."

Sophomore—"You need one."

DESSERTS

A good dessert which may be passed on and become a layer cake is an economy. Bake a sheet of any plain white cake. Serve one-third or one-quarter cut in squares for the dessert with a good pudding sauce made as follows: Take two table-spoonsful of flour, three-quarters of a cupful of sugar; mix well and add a half-cupful or more of any fruit juice at hand, or water with a table-spoonful of vinegar. Cook until smooth; add a table-spoonful of butter and a grating of nutmeg and pour over each serving, or pass at the table in a pitcher. The remainder of the cake may be cut in halves and put together with any desired filling, and iced or covered with chocolate, making a dessert and a cake from one recipe.

Lemon Rice Pudding.—Take one cupful of rice cooked in one quart of milk until tender, add the yolks of three eggs (two will do), the grated rind of a lemon and sugar to sweeten. Heap in a baking dish, cover with a meringue made of the egg whites, and two to three table-spoonsful of sugar, and a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Brown the meringue and serve either hot or cold. Bits of jelly may be added if desired, for a garnish.

Bread Pudding.—In spite of the decision which the good old bread pudding has had to endure, it still is a favorite in many homes. Take one and one-half cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful of sugar, two slices of bread buttered, one egg. Beat the egg and the sugar together until well-mixed; add the milk slowly, heating all the time. Place the buttered bread in a baking dish, pour over the milk and egg; the bread will rise to the top of the pudding dish like a crust. Allow it to stand one hour and then bake 15 minutes in a hot oven. Serve with top milk, vanilla and sugar to taste for sauce.

Hingham Pudding.—Mix together one-half cupful of seeded raisins, one-half cupful of molasses, one-fourth cupful of chopped suet, one-half cupful of water, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Add flour to make a drop batter and steam three hours.

Wholesale Human Mutilation.

Forty thousand pairs of ears and 40,000 noses, the war trophies of that famous and painfully thorough Japanese General Hideyoshi, lie beneath the plain stone marker and grass-grown mound of the "Mimi-Zuka" or Ear tomb, a short distance from one of Kyoto's main streets.

They were deposited there as evidence of the valor and success of Hideyoshi's expert carvers, and also to serve as emphatic warning of the fate all who crossed that determined warrior might expect.

The ears and noses are not, however, the bounty of any recent exploit. Hideyoshi was the strong man of Japan more than three centuries ago, and his gruesome trophies were once the valued property of 40,000 Koreans who had foolishly resisted the Japanese general's invasion of their native

HAD HIS FILL OF SYMPATHY

Not Hard to Understand Why Sonny Would Prefer a Short Period of Retirement.

Listen to a story about Sonny. He is three years old. He is the kind of child you read about but seldom meet.

When you meet him it is like greeting a sunbeam suddenly turned into the shape of a human being.

But one day Sonny fell down and broke his arm. He didn't cry, but it did hurt. His hand and arm hung limp. So they called the doctor and had the arm set and then put into a sling.

When Sonny went out the next day with his mother he was the object of much attention from his mother's friends—and his.

"Poor little arm!" declared the first lady. "Did you hurt the little arm?" Sonny smiled.

"Poor little arm!" sympathized the next lady, they met. "Did 'im fall and hurt his arm?"

Again Sonny smiled. "Poor little arm!" greeted the next lady. "The little arm is broken."

Sonny smiled, but not so warmly this time. "Poor little arm!" beamed the next friend.

So it went. By the time they got back home Sonny was very quiet.

"Mother," he said, solemnly, "I think the poor little arm will stay in the house till it's well."—Washington Star.

His Name.

A Washington man, visiting Richmond, took a great fancy to a bright-eyed little dandy who polished his shoes. Shortly after he became interested in the little chap, the Washington man asked his name.

"Gen, sub," was the reply.

After a few moments of silence the Washingtonian continued, "I suppose that is an abbreviation for General?"

The word "abbreviation" stumped the little fellow for a while, but he recovered himself. "No, sub," he said. "It ain't exactly that. My shore-enough name is Genesis xxx. 33. So shall my righteousness answer for me in time to come Washington Jones, but they jest calls the Gen' so!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE COLLEGE GIRLS

By ALLISON M. GRANT

Paula Leighton stretched her round, tanned arms above her head and yawned deeply and wearily; yawned all the big tears rolled down her cheeks.

"I know I should be trying these reports," she muttered half aloud, "but oh, if there were only some excitement."

The deep silence of the deserted room seemed to mock her. Excitement! It was all she could do to prevent herself falling fast asleep in that comfortable atmosphere. Suddenly the telephone bell shattered the peaceful quiet of the twilight room. Paula stretched luxuriously. The telephone shrilled again, loud and insistent.

"Oh, I'm coming," remarked Paula, irritably.

She lifted the receiver from the hook and at the sound of the voice at the other end of the line galvanized into attention.

"Acme Advertising company speaking. May I talk to Mr. Milton?"

"I'm sorry," she replied sweetly. "There is no one here but myself. Is there any message I can take?"

"No, thanks. I'll call tomorrow at quarter past nine."

Paula started to hang up.

"Hey, just a minute," stammered the voice. "Please don't think I'm fresh, but haven't I heard your voice before? I—I mean, don't I know you?"

Paula laughed. "I don't think so," she returned merrily, and hung the receiver in its place.

The next morning, promptly at 8:15, the telephone bell rang.

Paula was in such haste to answer the shrill summons that her friend and classmate, Helen Moore, stared in wonder. Hardly replying to Paula's "Hello," the excited tones of that musical bass voice came over the wires. "I do know you!" it declared triumphantly.

"I knew I did. I danced with you at the Chi Sigma Chi masquerade in April and at one of the house dances. Don't you remember?"

"I remember the voice, all right," admitted Paula, "but I am very much ashamed to say that I don't recall your face or name."

"Never mind," chuckled the vibrant, alto-sweet voice. "I know you. You are Paula Leighton, a junior at B. U. I used to play with you when we were kids. In fact, Miss Leighton, it is not so many moons ago since you kissed me good-by—and—"

Paula almost dropped the receiver in her excitement.

"I never did!" she ejaculated, indignantly. "I never kissed a strange man in my life!"

"Think again," teased the laughing voice. "Do you remember Tommy Allen who used to live next door? Six years ago, just before he moved to California, we went for a walk over by Hurley's brook, and he kissed you and gave you his class pin. Have you kept the pin?"

"I'm going to call for you at half-past five," he remarked briskly. "Now may I speak to Mr. Milton, please?"

"But—" protested Paula feebly.

"I said I was going to call for you," said Tommy determinedly, "and I am. Is Mr. Milton there?"

At last the slow moving hands of the clock pointed to twenty-five minutes past five. Finally, with pulses hammering, color glowing in her cheeks, Paula walked sedately down the stairs.

Arrived at the foot of the stairway she halted suddenly as an appealing thought came to her. How was she to recognize Tommy Allen in the crowd of home-going men? Her hand went to the little class pin she wore on her sweater. She had not been standing in the doorway for more than a minute when she saw a tall, good-looking man with a decidedly college air making his way toward her. She looked at him, wondering who he could be. He wasn't the type of man one usually saw in this part of the city. She looked impatiently at the tiny watch on her wrist, and then glanced up quickly as a laughing voice said, "Hello, Paula."

Dumbfounded, Paula stared at the appealing. Surely this handsome young man wasn't freckle-faced, snub-nosed Tommy! Tommy took her arm possessively and piloted her toward the subway station.

"Paula," he asked eagerly, after some of the questions that had been accumulating for six years had been asked and answered, "Will you come to the junior prom with me?"

"But the prom isn't until next May, Tommy."

"Never mind," he returned. "And will you come to the senior dance with me?"

"I don't like to arrange for affairs so many months before time, but—all right, I'll come."

And when, at the senior banquet a year later, in accordance with the time-honored custom, the engaged girls ran around the table amid the laughter and applause of their classmates, Paula was among the number. And the man? Tommy, of course.

When I do see him, it is one of the best human pleasure that London has for me. But I don't understand his life—that is the manner and tone of his production—a complete studio existence, with doors and windows closed, and no search for impressions outside—no open air, no real daylight, and no looking out for R. The things he does in these conditions have exceeding beauty—but they seem to me to grow colder and colder—painted abstractions, less and less observed. Such as he is, however, he is certainly the most distinguished artistic figure among Englishmen today—the only one who has escaped vulgarization and in whose chapters has no hold—Henry James.
